MOORE YOUTH FOUND DEAD ON TRACKS HERE

A brickman on the job about 1:30 A. M. Tuesday morning, May 26, discovered the dead body of a youth lying under a freight car about 300 feet west of the depot in Hondo.
Deputy sheriffs and the Justice of the Peace, H. V. Haass, were summoned and the dead man was identified as Ralph Homer Tate Jr., 19, of Moore, Texas. His left foot had been cut off and several deep wounds were found on his head, as well as body bruises. He had been dead for several hours before discovered and it is believed that he was hit by an earlier train, probably about 1 A.
M.

Tate was employed as a truck driver for H. B. Zachry Co. out at the new air field. He was unmarried. His family was notified of his death and came to Hondo where the body was being held at the Horger Funeral Home. The body remained here until Wednesday afternoon when Mr. Horger and Mr. Bailey Rogers took it overland to Moore where burial services were held at 4 P. M. Wednesday afternoon. Survivors are his parents, Mr. and Mrs.
Ralph Homer Tate Sr., one sister and one brother. The youth was born January 11, 1923, and was, therefore, 19 years, 4 months and 14 days of age at the time of his death.

CONFER ON SEWER SYSTEM

John A. Horger, Frank X. Vance, and Robert L. Kollman, representing the City Council and the Chamber of Commerce, went to San Antonio Saturday and at 3 P. M. conferred with Colonel Osborn, Army Engineer, at Fort Sam Houston, and Mr.
Beavers, consulting engineer representing Engineer Julian Montgomery of Austin, in regard to a sewer system for Hondo. The local representatives were endeavoring to secure permission to tie-in a city sewer system with the Army sewerage disposal plant now in process of construction southwest of Hondo. They were informed, however, that such arrangement could not be made.

This throws the municipality upon its own resources for planning, constructing and putting into operation the sewer system now so sorely needed.

Public School Closing For 1941-'42 Term.

REV. KRAUSHAAR PREACHES IMPRESSIVE SERMON GRADUATION EXERCISES TONIGHT.

The closing exercises for the 1941-'42 term of Hondo Public School began Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock with the Baccalaureate Services at the High School Auditorium; they close with the graduation exercises tonight. Thirty-seven young people constitute the graduating class.

THE BACCALAUREATE

The program as printed in last week's issue of this paper was presented promptly at the hour specified before a large and attentive audience. The songs and music for the occasion were furnished by the Glee Club under the direction of Miss Evelyn Woodley. Rev. R. F. Davis delivered the Invocation; Rev. W. B.
Wheeler read the scripture lesson;
"My Task" was sung by a trio composed of Misses Rose Marie Finger, Colleen O'Neill and Anna Lee Rucker; Dr. Wm. F. Kraushaar, President of Texas Lutheran College of Seguin, delivered the Baccalaureate sermon. Rev. I. V. Garrison pronounced the benediction; and the Recessional closed the event.

THE SERMON

The large and attentive audience including the graduates and faculty members of the Hondo High School gave close attention to the baccalaureate sermon delivered by William F. Kraushaar, President of Texas Lutheran College.

The speaker based his sermon on Hebrews 12, 1-2:

"Wherefore seeing we are compass-ed about with so great cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight and the sin which does so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us, looking unto Jesus."

President Kraushaar said in part:
St. Paul, the writer, was a modern man. He knew his time. He based his admonition on realities. He was interested in the Olympic games of his day. To him life is like a race track. He is thrilled by the remembrance of a race in the stadium. It reminds him of life and its meaning.
"Let us run with patience the race that is set before us." And what a race life is! Close together stand the cradle and the grave. Locks of grey mingle with locks of gold. Since life is so short a race what must be done must be done quickly.

A race means rivalry. One wins and scores of others must lose. This is an unpleasant thought. How many thousands fall by the wayside, hearts broken, ambitions wrecked and fortunes lost. Seeing these millions fatigue and discouraged Paul bids them rise and try again. For this is a race in which all may win. He offers them this encouragement: "Seeing we are encompassed about by so great a cloud of witnesses." In the actual race it is the father or mother and host of friends in the grandstand who give the runner encouragement. In the race of life it is the host of fellow Christians, men and women of high repute, whose life is a source of inspiration to us as we struggle against the sin that does so easily beset us. We are not alone in this race of life.

Again Paul observes the race and notifies that the contestants are stripped. They carry no unnecessary weight. Why should we burden ourselves in the important race of life with the weight of sin? You cannot win this race if you are the slave of drug or drink, if you are given to hypocrisy, greed, hatred, dishonesty or passion. Oscar Wilde for all his fine start had a millstone about his neck and his star fell in outer darkness. "What can it profit a man, though he gain the whole world, if he loses his soul?" So let us run light, without the weaknesses and vice of sin in order to obtain the crown of victory.

In the old Olympic games the victor was crowned with the laurel wreath and carried triumphantly through the city. The runner had before him this scene to spur him on. St. Paul gives us a vision as we run the race of life when he says: "Looking unto Jesus." He stands at the end of the race, the finishing line in order to welcome the weary but successful runner and crown him with victory of eternal life.

Dear young friends, you are now beginning the race of life. The future lies blank before you ready to receive what you choose to write on its pages. Once written, however, it is almost indelible. You may repent of a harsh word uttered or an evil deed committed, but you can never recall the harsh word nor undo the evil deed. If we could but foresee the possibilities of our life and the issues that hang on our observance of the rules of the race as clearly as we shall see them some day, there would be fewer wasted mornings and gloomy sunsets of life.

Be strong, we are not here to play.
To dream, to drift We have hard work to do and loads to lift.
Shun not the struggle, face it, 'tis God's gift."

OWLS LOSE STATE CHAMPION SHIP TO ADAMSON HIGH OF DALLAS

Although the Owls outplayed and outthrew their rivals, they lost a thrilling battle for the state championship of the fifth annual high school baseball tournament to Doc Henselee's Leopards 4 to 2. The Owls garnered eight hits to Dallas' five, and made one error against four, but tough breaks plus some brilliant defensive play cost the Owls the ball game. Hollmig pitched a fine game for Hondo, and was opposed on the mound by Moore, ace of the Leopard staff. G. H. Finger led the Hondo batting with three hits in three times at bat. The Owls had defeated Fort Worth 4 to 1 in the opening game Thursday behind the brilliant three-hit pitching of Joe Embrey. Dawson, centerfielder, got three hits in four trips, to lead the clubbing.

The Adamson team was reputed to be the best ever turned out in Dallas, and they proved it by winning their opening game against Whitney 22 to 0 in two innings, and winning the final game over Carthage 12 to 0, and the game was stopped in seven innings. So the Owls just missed another state championship by an eyelash.

Kenneth Flory, Owl outfield broke three bones in his foot in sliding into third base in the final inning against Dallas.

Austin High School won the consolation title with a 7-6 decision over Polytechnic of Fort Worth.

The following report on the Hondo Owls-Fort Worth Polytechnic game is taken from The Dallas News of May 22:

Hondo, 1939 winner, became the first club to gain the semi-finals of the fifth annual state high school invitational baseball tournament here Thursday with a 4-to-1 victory over Fort Worth Polytechnic at Rebel Stadium.

Joe Embrey, pitching for the Owls, let the Parrots down with five scattered hits. William McClung, Polytechnic twirler, was pounded for nine bingles by Hondo.

Poivy's lone run came in the first canto when Howard Reynolds, safe on a fielder's choice, took second on Ken Peacock's single and scored after Tom Orr flew out to right field.

Hondo's well-coached club got the run back in the second when Stan Hollmig walked, moved up on Clyde Schuehle's single and Ken Flory's sacrifice and scored after Monico Perez skied to left.

The Owls went on top with a single run in the third when Claude Schuehle walked and came in home when Toby Goldman muffed Holl-mig's fly to right field.

H. Finger's double in the fourth started the Owls' two-run spurge which ended the scoring for the afternoon. Bud Groff dumped a bunt in front of the plate and Parrot Catcher Weldon Peacock threw the ball away at first base, Finger scoring from second on the play. Groff went to third on the miscue and scored on Claude Schuehle's single.

RETAIL STORES TO HALT BUSI- NESS JULY 1 TO SELL BONDS AND STAMPS

On Saturday, May 23, the Hondo Chamber of Commerce received the following telegram from Benjamin H. Namm, Chairman of the Retailer Advisory Committee of the U. S.
Treasury Department, Washington, D. C.:

"All retailers are being asked to cooperate in nationwide tribute to America's war effort of July first at twelve noon by suspending all sales of merchandise for fifteen minutes and devoting this brief period to sale of war savings stamps and bonds exclusively. We are counting upon your personal cooperation so that we may report one hundred percent unity in this vital program to launch nationwide July campaign of 'retailers for victory'. Will you advise how many of your local retailers will participate? Please wire as soon as possible so that I may advise Secretary Morgenthau and President Roosevelt on Monday morning."

The Chamber of Commerce began at once to contact retailers in Hondo to have them sign up to cooperate in the campaign.

A summary of the past week's war events reviewed by The National Editorial Association Defense Advisory Committee in cooperation with the Office of Government Reports.

(FOR RELEASE MAY 26, 1942)

President Roosevelt, in a special message to Congress, reduced his WPA request for fiscal 1943 from $465 million to $283 million. He said the war effort is drawing workers from every available source, thereby reducing the need for a work relief program. To meet labor shortages, he said, even organized migration of workers may be necessary. The revised WPA program would provide for an average monthly employment of about 400,000 persons "who will not be hired by private employers because of age, lack of skills, or other handicaps."

Chairman McNutt of the War Manpower Commission directed the U. S. Employment Service to maintain lists of skilled occupations essential to war production in which a National shortage exists, and to make preferential referrals of workers to employers in war industries.
He directed the WPB to classify war plants and war products in the order of their urgency to the war program.
He also instructed Selective Service Local Boards to confer with local U.
S. Employment Service offices before reclassifying any men skilled in war occupations.

Mr. McNutt said it is possible to insure full utilization of manpower through voluntary means, "it will be unnecessary to put into effect legal controls" to limit freedom of action of workers and employers. He said compulsion "may from time to time be necessary," however, in the administration of the manpower program. He stated four-fifths of all jobs in vital war industries can be handled by women.

Rubber and Gasoline

The WPB said if Americans do not conserve the transportation miles in their tires it may be necessary eventually to transfer automobiles and tires to communities where they are needed more. The Board reported no rubber can be spared in 1942 or 1943 to make new tires for ordinary passenger cars, because the Armed Forces need all the rubber the Nation can muster from its stockpile, synthetic program and greatly curtailed crude sources. The synthetic program might produce 30,000 tons of rubber this year and 350,000 tons in 1943, the Board said.

Price Administrator Henderson reported a preliminary count of car owners in the Eastern Rationing Area showed about 10 percent received X ration cards, 31 percent received B-1 cards, another 11 percent received B-2 cards, and 37 percent received B-3 cards. The OPA ruled X cards must be surrendered if the essential purpose for which they were issued does not cover "substantially all" of the use of the car for which they were provided.

The Armed Forces

House and Senate conferees agreed on legislation to increase the pay of Privates and Apprentice Seamen to $42 per month, and of Privates First Class to $48, and to provide pay raises for the other ranks of enlisted men. President Roosevelt set June 30 as the registration date for young men between the ages of 18 and 19 and for those who reached their 20th birthday between December 31, 1941, and June 30, 1942. Only men 20 or older are subject to military service under the Selective Service System.

The Navy announced it will begin recruiting about 1,000 negroes a month on June 1. The Marine Corps' first reserve battalion of negroes will recruit about 900 men during June and July. The Marine Corps also reported it will waive certain physical requirements in order to present commissions to Civilian Specialists 20 to 50 years of age. The Army doubled the quota of 111-A SS registrants it will accept monthly as volunteers for officer training.

Women's Army Auxiliary Corps

Recruiting for the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps First Officer Candidate School will begin May 27, the War Department reported. Application blanks may be obtained only by going in person to one of the 440 regular Army Recruiting Stations throughout the country. The term of enrollment will be for the duration of the war and for not more than six months thereafter. Officer candidates must be citizens of the United States, between the ages of 21 and 45, with a high school education or its equivalent, in good health and of excellent character.
They may be married or single. The first class will consist of approxi-

AN APPLETREE AT SPRINGTIME

An earthly cloud blooms fleecy white Beneath the springtime sky; A flutter of flakes, a burst of green, The cloud is fading by.

—VELOUS CALL,
395 N. Henry St., Coquille, Oregon.

YOUNG SWANS

Upon the bosom of the lake Four cygnets swam serenely; Their rhythmic chatter called to me,
Their plaintive cry came cleanly To my alert, creative ear: I'd searched for long—like melody, On rumpled pad I penned those notes To use them for my rhapsody.

—ANNE PENDLETON,

AURORA IN AZURE

Dawn is a vase
Of Persian blue china, Shattered by the growing flower Of the sun!

—HELENA SIDIS, 10 Holcomb St., Hartford, Conn.

SOLACE

Let me not live so long that I shall lose
The memory of pains I shared with you;
This is a sorrow I would gladly choose

Above all forms of joy I ever knew.

Let not the blessings war has brought me cease Or be obscured by the return of peace.

—CATHERINE RUTH SMITH,

HAUNTED HEARTS

Echoes
Are fragile ghosts,
That boomerang
The voices of the soul, And haunt the hearts of poets In despair.

SCREWORM NUMBERS AT RECORD LOW

The Department of Agriculture says that the early spring screwworm population has been reduced to 6 percent of normal—one of the lowest points in the past 28 years—on Southwest Texas ranches.

Reducing screwworm numbers in Southwest Texas is important because the insect spreads from that principal over-wintering area into other Southern and Midwestern States, causing an annual loss to livestock men of approximately $10,000,000.

Control measures take advantage of two facts: (1) Young worms of the screwworm fly must develop in wounds of a living animal; and (2) in the United States, screwworms can survive winter only in areas of the South, principally in a few counties of southwestern Texas known as the Balcones Escarpment.

CHAMP MEETS CHAMP

Caught by the cameraman during the recent Southwestern Rodeo and Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth was screen star Gene Autry as he gave a critical once-over to Arngibbon Re-serve, grand champion Shorthorn bull of the show.

The bull is owned by W. C. Anderson & Son, West Liberty, Iowa, and was bred by McLay Bros., Janesville, Wis.

Autry, famed for bringing the story of the colorful west to millions, was raised on a Texas ranch. A practical stockman in his own right, he is owner of the Flying A Ranch near the Texas border in south central Oklahoma.

Thrifty Tips for the Homemaker

"THINK twice before you throw anything away," is a wise war-time slogan for every homemaker.

Empty baking powder cans, for instance, enameled, make good looking cigarette boxes. Pound coffee cans, enameled and decorated with a stencil or transfer design, can be transformed into cookie jars suitable for gifts.

Olive-oil castile soap that the medical profession has long recommended for hair, skin and baby care is fast disappearing because of war conditions. Fortunately for family thrift budgets, a new white floating soap called Swan has been invented that is just as pure and mild as expensive castile soap and meets all of the doctors' specifications for a fine textured soap that is perfect for shampoos and infant baths too. And it's thrifty to use for washing dishes and silks besides.

And here's another war-time tip. You can prolong the life of the family's precious rubber boots if you stuff them with enough cardboard to keep them erect when not in use. The cardboard will encourage the circulation of air that's necessary to prevent cracking.

You can make tired looking crumpled curtains look practically like new if you wash them with Swan soap. This thrifty, fine-textured new soap suds twice as fast as old-style soaps and guarantees a richer, creamier lather that will stand up until you've gotten out all the dirt. Rinse three times in clear lukewarm water before wringing. Hang evenly on a line out of the sun. Pull edges straight several times while drying.

Don't throw away sugar, flour or feed sacks; they make good dish towels. Rip open carefully; hem raw edges and launder.

Surgical operations, sheep shearing, and birth of young all make wounds in which screwworm eggs may be laid and young worms develop. By timing these ranching practices in over-wintering areas so they are performed as soon as possible after Feb. 1—when the screwworm population is lowest—and by treating all wounds to protect against screwworm, the number of flies and worms surviving winter have been reduced sharply.

Although the over-winter population is probably at a record low, entomologists in the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine point out that only a few neglected cases can produce enough screwworm flies to cause serious trouble. For this reason, they suggest livestockmen treat all early cases, because these produce "seed" for fly populations later in the season.

They also point out that screwworms are spread into the cattle-feeding sections of the midwest in wounds of infected livestock shipped there from infested areas in the South. This type of migration can be prevented if livestockmen on both the sending and receiving end of shipments inspect the animals and treat all wounds.

Most successful treatment to kill screwworms in wounds and protect against infestation, is "Smear 62" developed by the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine.

We just sit quietly and talk—and drink a glass or two of beer.

HONDO, TEXAS, MAY 29, 1942

Washington Snapshots by JAMES PRESTON

While Washington is awaiting the emergence of a clear-cut labor policy covering wage ceilings and the closed shop, it is also spending considerable time and energy talking about other aspects of the labor situation.

Latest news is that the War Manpower Commission is formulating plans for what will amount to a labor draft. Already Chairman McNutt has warned that there must be a complete utilization of labor for war production. If the nation's factories are to continue to beat their promise on their scheduled output of munitions, millions of new workers must be found to man the production lines. McNutt places the number at 15 million—double the present supply. This means, he says, that workers must be transferred from one job to another and that large-scale migrations of labor will become necessary.

Exactly when this will begin to occur and on how large a scale—these are facts that have not been revealed to date, but present indications are that the labor shortage will become acute by the end of this year.

—WSS—

Attorney General Biddle's recent message to labor unions, advising them to accept "added responsibility" in return for the gains that labor has made in recent years, is thought here to have been intended to offset criticism of two of his recent public statements. One was his refusal to permit Assistant Attorney General Arnold to testify before Congress in connection with the bills to outlaw labor racketeering, and the other was his statement that New Deal objectives must be supported irrespective of the war.

Admitting that "unfortunately there are still racketeering labor leaders," the Attorney General asked members of labor unions to "think of themselves as expressing the interests of the general public. Thus it would have a tremendous potential effect on the country at large if unions were not only willing to accept public accountability of their finances but themselves insisted on it."

—WSS—

Washington tax experts are busy trying to work out some formula that will provide a post-war refund to companies to help them change back from wartime to peacetime production and provide jobs for war workers and men released from the armed services when the guns cease firing.

Both the Ways and Means Committee and Treasury officials are seeking a plan to issue war bonds or certificates to companies in amounts of 10 to 20 per cent of the present excess profits tax. According to one point of view, unless companies are given such a rebate after the war on the taxes they pay now, the proposed war profits taxes "will seriously hamper the war effort."

At the present time the percentage of taxes that should be returned has not been decided. Treasury experts have suggested a figure of 10 per cent, but many members of the Ways and Means Committee believe that at least 20 per cent should be allowed—the amount England now allows on a 100 per cent excess profits tax.

The plan provides that the bonds would be paid off within five years after the war at a rate to be determined. Uses to which a company could put its refund would be specified and might include all business operations except payment of dividends.

IN SCHOLARSHIP SOCIETY

Austin, Texas, May 26.—Scholarship was well-rewarded this week at the University of Texas, when 29 business administration students were admitted to Beta Gamma Sigma in the largest initiation ceremony the honor society has ever held.

Admission to Beta Gamma Sigma is on the basis of scholarship and to be eligible, a student must be in the highest ten per cent of the graduating class. However, this spring some of the initiates were not seniors, but were elected anyway, since they are joining the armed forces and will not be back in school next fall.

Among the seniors elected was Robert David Windrow, of Hondo, who has already been inducted into the army.

FIRST AND SECOND REGISTRANTS ALSO TO RECEIVE QUESTIONNAIRES

Occupational Questionnaires to list the civilian occupations and skills of registrants in the First and Second Selective Service Registrations (October 1940 and July 1941) who have not been inducted into the armed forces will be mailed to them by the end of May, it was announced today by General J. Watt Page, State Selective Service Director. The questionnaire must be filled out by the registrant and mailed to his local board within ten days after he receives it, the Director said.

Pointing out the vital importance to the Nation's war effort of the most efficient use of its manpower for war production, General Page urged all registrants receiving this questionnaire to give careful thought to their skills, experience and aptitudes when filling it out. He said: "The Government wants to know not only what you are doing now, but also what you can or might be able to do to assist in the war effort. It is not merely a question of training and experience, for you might have some aptitude that could be developed for important use in war production."

The handling of the occupational questionnaires for men of the First and Second Registrations will be entirely separate from that of the registrants of the Third (February 16, 1942) Registration, most of whom already have received their questionnaires, General Page said.

Many of the registrants of the First and Second Registration already are in the armed forces, he pointed out, and, therefore, the questionnaires to them will be mailed from the Classification Record in each local board office instead of from the List of Registrants. Furthermore, the local boards will add to the questionnaires, when they are returned by the registrants, its current classification of each registrant and whatever information is available pertaining to his physical status.

When the occupational questionnaires are returned to the local boards they will be checked for completeness and accuracy and divided into the various sections of which they are composed. One section will be forwarded through State Headquarters for use by the National Roster of Scientific and Specialized Personnel in locating persons with certain professional and scientific qualifications. Another section will be relayed to the proper United States Employment Office for the area in which the local board has jurisdiction.

RAPID PROMOTION AVAILABLE TO CONSTRUCTION MEN IN ARMY ENGINEERS

A large percentage of first three grades of non-commissioned officers is authorized by the War Department to the Corps of Engineers and by any capable construction specialist enlisting in this specialized branch may feel reasonably sure of immediate promotion. Colonel Kinzie B. Edmunds, San Antonio District Army Recruiting Officer, stated today.

The closing date for the procurement of skilled craftsmen for enlistment and assignment to the Corps of Engineers, Camp Claiborne, Louisiana, has been extended to June 25th. There are still a number of vacancies for enlistment available to craftsmen who are qualified in any one of the following occupational trades: Blacksmith; demolition man and foreman; bridge, railway, concrete and general construction foreman; crane and crane shovel operator; compressor operator; foreman mechanic; structural steel worker; quarryman; rigger and foreman; jackhammer operator; tool room keeper; water supply operator; highway construction machinery foreman and operator; hoist engineer and rock crusher foreman.

In order to bring to the attention of men qualified for enlistment in the Corps of Engineers who may not know these vacancies exist, persons reading this notice are urged to pass the information it contains to any one they know who may be qualified. Colonel Edmunds added. Full information may be obtained by visiting the District Army Recruiting Office in the Builders' Exchange Building.

SULPHUR CONTROLS SORGHUM SMUT

By A. D. JACKSON

Kernel smut of sorghums has been very satisfactorily controlled by dusting the seed with ordinary sulphur, using two or three ounces per bushel, reports R. E. Karper, Agronomist in Charge of Sorghum Investigations of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. Sulphur in no way injures the germination of the seed and effectually kills the smut spores borne on the outside of the seed which are the carriers of the disease.

Sorghum smut has also been controlled with copper carbonate, explains Mr. Karper, when applied at the rate of two to four ounces per bushel; two ounces when the copper content is 50 per cent and four ounces when the copper content is 18 per cent. Each seed must be coated with copper carbonate if effective control is to be secured.

New Improved Ceresan may be used to treat sorghum seed but certain precautions must be taken when this fungicide is used. It should be applied only at the rate recommended by the manufacturer. Seed should be treated not over two or three days in advance of planting. Failure to follow these precautions during the past few years has resulted in ruining a lot of planting seed and convincing many farmers in the sorghum growing region that they do not want to treat their seed. Seed have been overtreated or treated too far in advance of planting and the germination and seedling have been ruined. Short, stubby sprouts emerge from the seed and then die resulting in a loss of stand. In overtreatment the chemicals penetrate the seed and interfere with cell division, causes deformities and finally kills the seedlings. These effects are quite similar to those from treating with colchicine, a powerful drug used recently to create new plant forms by retarding cell division and doubling the chromosome number. Hegari, kafir and Sumac seed which had been overtreated with Ceresan by farmers were examined last year and this typical reaction was found.

Smut can easily cause large losses in the sorghum grain crop and farmers who have had experience with seed treatment such as indicated above should not fail to treat their seed properly in the future. With priorities on the use of copper it may together with chemicals for use in seed disinfectants become difficult to obtain. Experiments at the Kansas Station, farther north in the sorghum region where smut is more of a problem than it is in Texas, have shown that sulphur dust is effective in controlling kernel smut. Sulphur in the finer dusting forms is best and the cost is even cheaper than the commercial chemical dust.

TONIC FOR BEES

Bee specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture found that when they attempted to stimulate brood rearing late in winter by feeding ordinary sugar sirup to experimental colonies, they failed. When they added pollen to the sirup, however, egg laying started within 12 hours. Believing this point might have some bearing on brood rearing, they began a study of the pollen content in various nectars and found wide variation.

Although the question whether there is any correlation between the pollen content of nectar being gathered by a colony and the colony's egg-laying activity has not been determined, high levels of egg-laying have been found associated with the gathering of nectar from mustards, manzanita, and sweet-clover—three types of nectar with a relatively high pollen content. The gathering of nectar from star-thistle, alfalfa, and sages—nectars with a smaller pollen content—was accompanied by a lower level of egg laying, while the gathering of nectar from orange blossoms, bluecurls, and black locust—nectars with the smallest pollen content of the three groups of blossoms—was accompanied by a still lower level of egg laying.

The study suggests, say the specialists, that beekeepers watch results from their local honey flows and locate colonies where the bees can gather the nectars most effective in increasing the colony.

DOES PRACTICE TEACHING

San Marcos, May 28.—To supplement their training as the future teachers in Texas schools, 116 students of Southwest Texas State Teachers College are doing supervised teaching in the San Marcos public school system.

These students are afforded the advantages of a coordinated system unique in San Marcos which provides practice teaching opportunities under the supervision of highly trained specialists. The college, high school, elementary school and even the kindergarten are closely knit to make a smoothly working unit which ranks among the highest in the State.

Among the students who have participated in the supervised teaching program this semester is Kathleen Reilly of Hondo. Miss Reilly, a senior, did her practice teaching in home making.

A survey of Holstein herds tested for production in the Deep South for the period since the Herd Improvement Registry started reveals that three of the four highest producing herds are in Texas. The area surveyed included Alabama, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas. The highest average for one year ever made in this area was by the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College, Stillwater, in 1937-38 with 14 cows on three milkings daily averaging 503.4 pounds of butterfat from 14,431 pounds of milk. The next three high herds for the entire area are the Texas herds as follows: Texas Technological College, Lubbock, 499.1 pounds; Price's Dairy Farm, Anthony, 496.1 pounds; J. W. Campbell, Seguin, 474.4 pounds of butterfat. The highest average in the South for the latest completed year was the 474.4-pound average made by J. W. Campbell with his 24-cow herd.

The unusually heavy rains during 1941 were unfavorable for goats although abundant supplies of browse and roughage were available; infestations of internal parasites were heavy. The kid crop was above average but death losses among both kids and grown goats were higher in 1941 than usual. The number of all goats on Texas farms and ranches January 1, 1942, was estimated at 3,500,000 head compared with 3,397,000 head a year earlier and the 10-year (1931-40) average of 3,016,000 head.

FOR SALE—Three large lots on South side. Two blocks from schools, desirably located on graveled street. All three for $450.00 or $175.00 for corner and $150.00 for inside lots if bought singly. IN MEMORY OF MRS. ALBERT H. SAATHOFF

While extremely busy on the military war-front, Death does not spare the civilian home-fronts. And where he strikes, there is sadness and dejection. Must we take it gamely and go on with bowed heads and icy resignation? We must, unless we have Him on our side Who proclaims, I am the Resurrection and the Life, and He who believes in Me shall not "taste" (the horrors and agonies) of death. Thoughts like these prevail, hold up and comfort when we give up our loved ones and read the outline of their life.

Today we must give a brief survey of the life and untimely death of Mrs. Albert H. Saathoff. Her given name was Helena Ida, and she was the daughter of August Leinweber (died in August 1908) and Katharina, nee Stiegler (died in November 1935). The child was born on March 23, 1897, in Upper Hondo, and was brought to Holy Baptism on July 4, 1897, when Rev. G. Czerkus officiated and Ernst Leinweber and Ida Decker assumed the sponsorship. After due instruction, she was confirmed by Rev. A. Falkenberg at Hondo, on April 14, 1911. Grown up to womanhood, Mr. Albert H. Saathoff chose her for his spouse, the wedding taking place on March 24, 1920, at St. Paul's in Hondo, and Rev. A. Falkenberg officiating also at this occasion. The Lord blessed the union with five children.

The home was made in Upper Hondo where Mr. Saathoff followed his profession as farmer and stockman, and where the young wife assisted faithfully with her willing co-operation and home-experience. Although subjected to minor ailments and several operations, she enjoyed health and strength throughout all the years and was able to perform her daily duties in her own quiet way and highly esteemed by many friends and neighbors.

Their religious life was not neglected. Both, husband and wife, were members of the Lutheran church from early youth, having a Christian atmosphere in the home prevail at all times, and deriving their strength and guidance from the word of God, and giving good account of themselves in the active affiliation with the Lutheran church at Hondo. There her absence will be sorely felt.

And then came a fast and unexpected change. Last week her condition, though not alarming, made hospitalizing necessary for observation and exploration. On Saturday, May 16, an operation was deemed advisable. The immediate effect seemed beneficial and promising a fair recovery. Though not fully rallying and regaining strength as fast as desired, she was able to converse with her family and friends to early morning of May, the 20th, but at 8:30 in the morning of that day her heart at once stood still, apparently due to an embolism in her blood. Some of her kin were present in that fatal hour. We dare hope that she had resigned herself to her fate and commended herself into the hands of Him Who loved and redeemed her, and to Whom she clung in all her life. Her age was 45 years, 1 month, 27 days.

Those mourning her premature death are the widower, Mr. Albert H. Saathoff; her children, Arnold, Edgar, Elma, Albert Jr., and Floyd; one grandchild, Gletta Faye Saathoff; four brothers, Emil, Henry, Louis and August Leinweber, all P. O. Hondo; six sisters, Mrs. Chas. Nietenhoefer, Mrs. Lee Hardt (San Antonio), Mrs. Alfred Schlentz, Mrs. Christ. Nietenhoefer, Mrs. Eddie Moehring and Mrs. Walter Saathoff, all P. O. Hondo, and a large circle of other relatives and friends. May the God of all comfort be their light and strength!

Funeral services were held at the Horger Funeral Home on May 21, 1942, at 4 P. M. in charge of the Rev. C. Weeber. Interment was at

A WEEK OF THE WAR

mately 450 women, and will begin about July 15.

The War Front

President Roosevelt said the U. S. still faces the prospect of a long war, and over-enthusiastic optimism about its progress is not justified. The President presented the Congressional Medal of Honor to Brig. Gen. James H. Doolittle who led the party of 80 men who bombed the Japanese mainland in Army B-25 bombers April 18. No. U. S. planes were shot down in the raids. Gen. MacArthur's Headquarters in Australia reported the sinking of another Japanese cruiser, two cargo ships and two enemy transports. United Nations planes in Australia destroyed 17 enemy aircraft and damaged nine others. Twelve more United Nations vessels were sunk by enemy submarines in the Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico.

Protection of Civilians and Essential Facilities

The President announced the Federal Security Agency, Office of Civilian Defense and Red Cross have agreed upon a coordinated plan to assist civilian victims of enemy action in this country. The OCD Emergency Medical Service will have immediate responsibility for care of persons injured by air raids or shelling, and emergency feeding and housing will be under OCD local defense corps. The Red Cross will furnish supplementary equipment such as ambulances. The President directed the OCD to formulate a Facility Security Program to protect "essential facilities" such as highways, communication systems, utilities and mines against sabotage, and to correlate it with such programs already placed in effect by the Army, Navy and Federal Power Commission.

Transportation

The Office of Defense Transportation banned operation of all sight-seeing bus services and restricted use of chartered buses to such essential operations as transporting members of the armed forces, war workers and school children. Four bus lines operating between New York City and Washington, D. C., were ordered to pool their services, stagger schedules, permit interchange of tickets and eliminate duplicating runs. The ODT also reported it has begun a survey of intercity bus and railroad passenger travel in 100 selected cities to determine necessary adjustments of travel requirements to available facilities. The Office requested employers to help reduce weekend travel by arranging mid-week departure for employees who plan vacations.

Shipbuilding

The President, in a National Maritime Day statement May 22, said "we will perform this near-miracle of ship production. The Nation's shipbuilding capacity has been increased more than 500 percent. That of itself is an outstanding achievement." War Administrator Lend said 138 ships have been delivered into service so far this year, approximately 35 percent more than were delivered in all of last year. We have reached the stage of delivering two ships a day. By Fall, we will be delivering three a day. Maritime Day was observed also with the mass launching of 27 cargo vessels.

Housing and Construction

Nineteen AFL building trade unions signed an agreement with the government to stabilize wages on Federal construction for one year at rates paid under collective bargaining agreements in effect July 1, the Labor Department reported. A seven-man Wage Adjustment Board, comprised of the government agencies involved, will administer the agreement. The House completed Congressional action on legislation to increase from $200 million to $800 million the amount of housing loans which may be insured by the Federal Housing Administration. The Federal Public Housing Authority said it will receive bids in June on construction of 31,000 housing units.

HONEY PINCH HITS FOR SUGAR

With rationing of sugar, honey assumes an increasingly important place in the daily diet, the U. S. Department of Agriculture points out. Whether we eat it directly as a substitute for table sugar, or unconsciously in a prepared food, we'll probably be using a good deal more honey.

Honey can't be substituted for sugar in recipes, ounce for ounce, because of the difference in consistency and sweetening properties. However, home economists are working out new recipes—in addition to the many now in existence—to utilize honey for sweetening.

Only about half of the crop in this country goes to the table as honey. The other half is used in less obvious ways. Many food industries depend on honey, the Agricultural Marketing Service points out, as well as many other industries.

High among the honey-users are the bakers who incorporate it in bread, rolls, cookies, and many specialties, using in all about a third of the honey crop each year. One of the newer ideas which has enlarged the outlet for this product is combining honey with breakfast cereals, for sweetening and flavoring.

Millions of candy bars contain honey; it sweetens and flavors ice cream; soft drink manufacturers are now interested in honey possibilities. One of the newest outlets is the beauty parlor where it has been used for rejuvenating faded complexions. Honey also is used for curing meats, curing pipes, processing tobacco, as an ingredient of cough and cold remedies, and in various hand lotions and face creams.

Official U. S. Treasury War Bond Quotas for June

The above map of the country shows the War Bond Quota by states for the month of June totalling $800,000,000. Everybody every pay day is expected to invest at least ten per cent of his income in War Bonds to aid in financing America's offensive against the Axis powers.

The ultimate quota for the nation will be on a basis of one billion dollars per month effective in July. This sum is necessary to provide for all-out production of planes, guns, ships and munitions adequate to arm our fighting men with the tools necessary to win the war.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS
TO: Mathias del Toro, a non-resident of the State of Texas, GREETING: You are commanded to appear and answer the plaintiff's petition at or before 10 o'clock A. M. of the first Monday after the expiration of 42 days from the date of issuance of this Citation, the same being Monday the 22nd day of June, A. D. 1942, at or before 10 o'clock A. M., before the Honorable District Court of Medina County, at the Court House in Hondo, Texas.

Said plaintiff's petition was filed on the 12th day of Sept., 1941, at 1:30 o'clock P. M.

The file number of said suit being No. 3729.

The names of the parties in said suit are Maria Teresa Toro as Plaintiff, and Mathias del Toro as Defendant.

The nature of said suit being substantially as follows, to-wit:

That on or about the 14th day of July, 1941, in Medina County, Texas, plaintiff whose maiden name was Maria Teresa Fernandez, was married to defendant; that at the time plaintiff was married to defendant she was extremely ill, nervous and frightened; that she was operated on the day following the marriage; and that she has never since lived with the defendant, and has the fixed intention of never living with him as his wife. That plaintiff was only slightly acquainted with defendant at the time of the marriage and has never had any love or affection for him. Defendant came to Plaintiff's home from his residence in Michigan, displayed a letter which he stated he had received in which plaintiff was supposed to have agreed to marry him, and demanded that plaintiff marry him or see that he would be reimbursed for his trip to Texas; that plaintiff became overcome by fear, and owing to her extreme and serious illness she believed that she would be in trouble unless she complied with the demands of defendant and marry him; that she married the defendant only through fear brought about by the words and attitude of defendant; that said marriage ought to be annulled for the above reasons, but that said marriage still at this time exists; that there is no property and no property rights to adjust, and that there are no children; that their living together as husband and wife is insupportable; Plaintiff prays for judgment annulling said marriage, dissolving said marriage relations and divorcing her from defendant; that the maiden name of Maria Teresa Fernandez be restored to her, etc.

Acres devoted to cotton production and quality improved in Texas increased more than 100,000 acres in 1941 over the preceding year. Increase in number of communities participating in cotton production increased correspondingly.

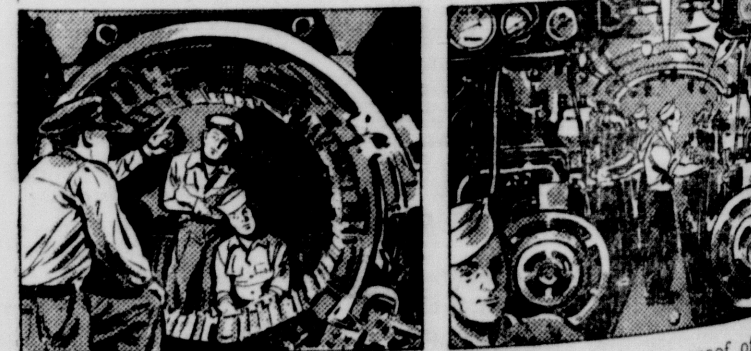

acres was 2,593,983 representing 789 communities, compared with 1,697,736 acres and 581 communities in 1940. A total of 77,301 producers cooperated in 1940 in variety cotton growing and, although the number for 1941 is not available, it is likely that an increase proportionate to the acreage and number of communities occurred.

Navy School at G.E.

Just one evidence of the cooperation between the armed services and our vast industrial army—a school for submarine electricians conducted at one General Electric factory.

1. Electricity is vital to the running of every submarine. It does an amazing variety of important jobs, from turning the propeller to cooking the coffee.

2. For that reason, there must be well-trained electricians on every underwater craft. At this school Navy electricians attend classes taught by G-E engineers.

3. and go out into the shops where they watch workmen construct the same kind of electric equipment that will some day be put in their charge.

General Electric believes that its first duty as a good citizen is to be a good soldier.
